TREAT TALKS TO BOYS.
Character Building Theme in an Address at Y. M. C. A.
Mr. Charles H. Treat, Treasurer of the United States, delivered a short talk on "Character Building," at the boys' meeting, held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the assembly hall of the Y. M. C. A. building, on G street.

"There has been a coming cloud," said Mr. Treat, "over the financial matters of this country, which was discernible by men when it was no larger than a man's hand. You have heard of it through the press, in the shops, offices, and marts of trade in this city. This has been a time when men of character, of foresight, and of confidence have been in the public eye. Millions and tens of millions of dollars have been brought to this country to give our men confidence, for confidence is as necessary to business as faith is to salvation. Boys, what is the use of piling up tremendous fortunes? Can securities be put in a man's coffin when he dies? I have heard men of millions say, after years of successful financing, that the game was not worth the candle. And it isn't. Build up a good character, have a list of good deeds to your credit, be good, pure, and honest and you will be richer than many men in this country, who are presidents, governors, railroaders, and other big corporations."

The meeting was conducted by Mr. Chesley, the director of boys' work. Mr. Gerald Smith, social secretary and a member of the Ohio Wesleyan University Glee Club, sang a solo.

FORTY HOURS' ADORATION.
More Than 200 Children in Procession in St. Augustine's Church.
Forty hours' adoration commenced yesterday with solemn high mass in St. Augustine's Church, where the high altar, illuminated by countless wax tapers, was beautifully adorned with tall vases of white roses and chrysanthemums.

Rev. Father Sebastian, O. S. B., intoned the mass. Rev. Father James O'Connor, of the Catholic University, was deacon, and Rev. Father Paul Griffith, pastor of the church, subdeacon.

At the conclusion of the mass, the blessed sacrament was carried in solemn procession through the aisles of the church. More than two hundred children took part, throwing flowers as they walked before the sacred host.

The devotional bearing of these children and the altar boys sustained the reputation they long since acquired, their conduct being pronounced exemplary.

Rev. Father Olds had charge of the procession and acted as master of ceremonies at the solemn high mass.

The devotion will close Tuesday evening at 3 o'clock with procession and solemn benediction of the blessed sacrament. Celebrant, Rev. Father Charles M. Bart; deacon, Rev. Father Thomas E. McGuigan; subdeacon, Rev. Father M. P. J. Egan.

TWO HUNDRED CONFIRMED
Cardinal Gibbons Presides at Ceremony at St. Stephen's.
Previously Celebrated High Mass, and in Sermon Speaks of Graces that Come to the Soul.

Before an altar devoid of floral decorations and lights, solemn high mass was celebrated in St. Stephen's Church yesterday in the presence of His Eminence, the Cardinal, by the Very Rev. Dr. E. R. Dyer, president of St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore, with Rev. Father T. B. Williams, deacon, and Rev. Father O. A. Boyer, subdeacon, of the mass.

Deacons of honor to the Cardinal were Rev. Father David Hillhouse, Buel, S. J., president of Georgetown College, and Rev. Father Felix, president of St. Joseph's Seminary, Baltimore.

Present in the sanctuary were Rev. Father Fletcher, rector of the Cathedral, Baltimore, and Rev. Father P. J. O'Connor, pastor of St. Vincent de Paul Church, this city.

At the conclusion of the mass, Cardinal Gibbons, in brief and characteristically effusive words, spoke of the great graces that come to the soul through the worthy reception of the sacrament of confirmation, and reminded those who were to be confirmed that they "would become the living temples of the living God, more lasting than any temple ever made by man, more magnificent than any that had ever been erected from that of Solomon to the present grand basilica of St. Peter"—temples of the immortal soul made beautiful with the gifts of the Holy Ghost.

Confirmation was then administered to 190 children and about forty adults; the majority of the latter converts to the faith.

Rev. Father Thomas G. Smyth, who prepared the children and adults for confirmation, had charge of the ceremony. Miss Mary Welch and Mrs. Gibbons were the sponsors for the women and girls, and Mr. McArdle and Mr. Edward P. Gerson, sponsors for the men and boys.

CHURCH AND SCHOOLS

Dr. Chancellor's Theme in Talk to Colored Baptists.

EDUCATION FORMAL RELIGION

Superintendent Praised by Pastor for Having "Added to Advancement in the District"—Refers to Greeks Sailing Against the Wind and Thanks God for Opposition.

"Some religious aspects of education" was the theme of an address delivered by Dr. Chancellor, superintendent of the public schools, before an overflow audience at the Second (colored) Baptist Church, yesterday afternoon. Rev. Dr. Bishop, pastor of the church, introduced Dr. Chancellor and paid him a high tribute as a man "who has added in a significant manner to the advancement of education in the District of Columbia."

"The school is the outgrowth of the church," said Dr. Chancellor, "and the teacher came from the priest and preacher who hundreds of years ago taught the young men and some times young women. The school is sustained day by day by the church. It does the work of the church in a practical sense during the week. Education is formal religion. It is religion at work. Why? Because 'man was formed out of the dust of the earth, and God breathed into him the breath of life, and he became a living soul.'"

Referring to school studies, Dr. Chancellor said: "Not a few studies of the school are essentially religious. Physiology is a religious study, or rather the motive that underlies the study of physiology. The body is the temple of the soul and physiology teaches how to take care of the body. History is dictated by religion. It is essentially a religious study because the hand of the Lord is visible in every step in history. It shows how God works in the world."

"Literature is essentially a religious study. It tells how our fellow-men feel about life. The three studies of physiology, history, and literature are an illustration of the influence religion has on school studies."

Defining religion, Dr. Chancellor said: "It makes us conscious of the fact that you and I are fellow-men; that we are equal. It is the antidote of oligarchy and autocracy. We are all brothers, all very much interested in one another. It makes us self-corrected; self-critical; it makes us stop to think about ourselves."

"Education," said the speaker, "is the discovery of these truths. Religion teaches the essential worth of every soul. It teaches (contrary to business) the absolute equality of man and woman. It teaches the equality of all as sons of God."

Winds Favorable and Unfavorable.
"Education realizes all of these things. It confirms the 'ducibility' of every soul and daughter of man; it teaches that man has a soul. 'But to him that knoweth not the port to which he is bound no wind can be favorable.' To him who knows, all winds are favorable."

"Education teaches how to sail toward the goal. Thousands of years ago, the Greeks learned how to sail against the wind; they learned it after many trials and experiments and were successful. Thank God for opposition (applause)."

"To redeem from ignorance the dominion of absurdities, to redeem from skilllessness, the dungeon of poverty and oppression—such is the mission of education."

Thirty-sixth International Convention —OF THE—
Young Men's Christian Associations of North America
Washington, Nov. 22-26
A Campaign for Men.

Washington has a unique and important opportunity this week. It is of the highest kind, for it is spiritual. If properly used, it will enrich the spiritual life of the community, and be of lasting benefit. It comes in connection with the meeting, beginning on Friday, of the thirty-sixth international convention of the Young Men's Christian Associations of North America. Wherever that convention has met in its triennial sessions, the people of the city, without regard to their relations to the church, have profited so plainly because of its inspiration and instruction as to cause general expression of gratitude. This convention will bring to the city a large number of the spiritual leaders of the United States and Canada. They come for the definite purpose of strengthening the spiritual life of men everywhere. Not only in convention addresses, but in meetings to be held every day simultaneously with the convention, in churches, theaters, on steps of public buildings, hotels, and other places, they will exercise a gracious ministry. Their appeal will come not only to Christians, but to all men, without regard to their church relations or the absence of them. They will speak as men to men. Moreover, they are men of prayer, and they will depend upon the prayers that have been going up for this convention constantly for weeks, not only in Washington, but wherever the Young Men's Christian Association has a representative. Never before, it is believed, has there been such preparation, especially in prayer, for such a week as that which opens here on Friday. The people of Washington have in advance shown their appreciation of its significance by hearty co-operation with the committees of arrangement. The officers of the national and District governments, and all others who have been asked for any assistance, have responded with marked cordiality. All that remains now is for the people to make the most of this great opportunity, so that the National Capital may in itself and in its influence throughout the country have the full measure of beneficent and inspiring results.

Electrical Exhibition at Woodward & Lothrop's
A GREAT SUCCESS
The thorough practicability of Electricity as applied to household uses is proving very convincing. Skepticism regarding it is being completely annihilated by the demonstrations of electric cooking, electric heating, and electric power, and the display of numerous electric lighting appliances of different kinds.
A great many Washingtonians are learning through these demonstrations how reasonable is the cost of electric service, and how much it adds to the comfort of the home.
The exhibition will continue for another week.
